Grant this our one request:
Help us to build a nation
Where no man is oppressed,
And so with peace and plenty
Nigeria may be blessed.

WELCOME ADDRESS

By the President

It is with profound joy and a deep sense of responsibility that I welcome you to the First Annual Convention of the CIC Old Boys Association, holding here in the Enugu, the home of our beloved alma mater, College of the Immaculate Conception (CIC).

This gathering marks a significant milestone in the journey of our association. It is not only a reunion of old classmates and friends, but also a celebration of shared values, lifelong bonds, and the enduring legacy of an institution that has shaped generations of leaders across Nigeria and beyond.

As we come together to reflect on our collective experiences and look ahead to new opportunities for impact, this convention provides a platform for intellectual exchange, collaboration, and renewed commitment to the ideals that CIC stands for; discipline, excellence, and service.

I am deeply grateful to every member of our great association who has contributed to making this event a reality. I extend special appreciation to our special guest of honor, His Excellency, Dr. Ndubuisi Peter Mbah for his enthusiastic support and encouragement for this convention, our speakers, dignitaries, and friends of CIC Enugu who have honored us with their presence. Your support strengthens our resolve and inspires us to do more.

On behalf of our board of trustees, the national executive and the organizing committee, I welcome you once again. May this convention be a time of reconnection, inspiration, and purpose-driven dialogue.

Welcome home.

Hon. Sam Ogbu-Nwobodo, SJD.

A WALK-THROUGH OF THE CIC ENUGU STEM EDUCATION PROGRAM.

As led by the Semper Nation NG Project team.

By Chukwuedozie Nwosisi,
Financial Secretary of the Semper Nation NG.

Our approach to teaching STEM in CIC Enugu started with an extensive study focussing on understanding how STEM has been implemented in other countries of the world. The project team concluded that a comprehensive program would be one that is able to complement ongoing and existing curriculum for science and non-science subjects in CIC Enugu while building out the specific new infrastructural and knowledge environment required for effective teaching of STEM in the institution.

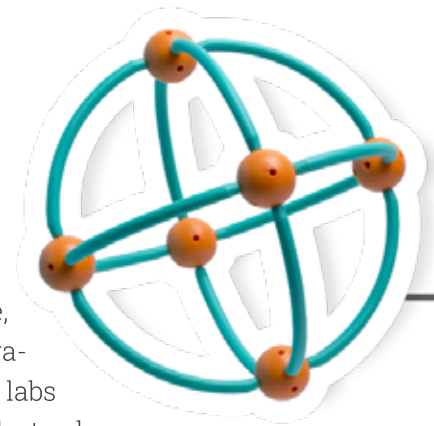

Many wondered why, close to 10 years ago we started speaking about STEM education at secondary education level, discussions which essentially were not hot or popular topics like constructing physical building structures that is often associated with performing or doing something. To our defence, we saw things differently and we are happy to have beaten an entirely new path to solving the problem of education in Nigeria today, in particular for STEM education.

Early on, one thing that was a guiding principle for us (and remained so even today) is that a STEM laboratory is different- it is designed to unlock the inquisitiveness and creativity in our young people, something that traditional science labs are not quite able to do.

While we acknowledge that there already exist laboratories for physics, chemistry, and biology subjects in CIC Enugu school they are limited when it comes to creative and design-oriented thinking in today's students. STEM labs are called makerspaces for a reason, and this is because they activate the students' critical thinking, problem solving and analytical mindset to transform them from passive learners to active creators.

In the last 5 years various Nigeria based CIC Enugu alumni organisations led the work, putting time, money and other resources to framing the problem and designing a solution. They consulted widely and undertook a structured needs assessment for CIC Enugu, with a view that it can serve as a model for Enugu state and indeed the nation Nigeria. Ultimately, they drew up a program, made up of critical components which I now discuss below. The coming together of these components catalyses STEM in a way that no single individual component can.

STEM Education Labs:

This aspect of the project involved the construction of a brand new dedicated ultramodern, and purpose designed 2-story building to house the STEM education labs and meet the requirements for teaching and learning STEM. Complete with full green credentials like solar energy and rain water capture and use, the building is designed to be energy efficient and with low emissions and CO2 footprint in addition.

In the new building the STEM education labs are spread in 2 floors within the building and each lab is designed as modular facility with an integrated system of lighting, cooling, electric power, internet and well fabricated STEM Labs furniture, offering teachers and students properly configured work surfaces with the right safety features for experimenting and learning. Each lab will get standard fitting of computer desk-stations, general work benches, teacher's and lab instructor's desks, amongst other facilities. There are dedicated areas with 3D printing capability, robotics labs with robotics experimentation equipment and workstations, and electronics workstations with the full complement of the right gear for electrical and electronics experimentation.

Teacher-Readiness:

We understood that STEM teaching leans heavily on the ability of teachers to teach using the curriculum and STEM kits. Without good teachers, most STEM projects fail. We started the process of engaging with the school to discuss about selecting and getting the right teacher training programs so that those who show promise are encouraged to be part of a new brigade of STEM teachers that will be developed fully to world class standards. Teachers assume the role of STEM Lab instructors to guide students in the conduct of many experiments on a day-by-day basis.

Curriculum Integration:

Our study revealed that the standard curriculum of most public schools play on the fringe of STEM education and exclude a lot of the applicable content that students should be taught with the practicals that bring these to light. To fix this, we are working on some new STEM curriculum and the associated lesson plans, plus factoring in how teaching periods can be combined to accommodate new STEM curriculum classes formally, while non-teaching periods can be exploited to complement the school day taught sessions and extend learning beyond the classrooms. Adapting curriculum to how it can be best taught, with local tooling in some cases and finding local equivalents that demonstrate the teaching focus and leaning outcomes, is one aspect the alumni association is investing in.

STEM Kits and Equipment:

We have earmarked a significant budget for buying hundreds of STEM equipment which are specially designed STEM classroom gear that students and teachers use in running the practicals and experiments in areas like science, electronics, programming, and robotics. These mainly do-it-yourself (DIY) kits will be bought at a pre-determined student/kit ratio that will facilitate to learning by trial and error as students are encouraged to test concepts and find how things work.

ENUGU

The city & its charm.

Nigeria's Coal Heart and Cultural Beacon Where Nigeria's Industrial Past Meets the Vibrant Soul of Its Southeastern Culture

Nestled in the southeastern region of Nigeria, Enugu City is a captivating tapestry woven with threads of history, vibrant culture, and modern advancement. Often referred to as "the Coal City," Enugu earned its nickname through its historic prominence in coal mining, which once powered the machinery of Nigeria's colonial energy sector. Though mining operations have largely faded, the imprint of this industrial era continues to define the city's character and reminds residents of a legacy steeped in resilience and transformation.

Enugu's terrain rolls gracefully with undulating hills, surrounded by pockets of lush greenery that give the city a scenic, almost serene atmosphere. Its infrastructure is impressively structured, with expansive roads, orderly neighborhoods, and well-planned government establishments contributing to its organized feel. Civic pride is evident in key institutions like the University of Nigeria, Enugu Campus, which serves as a beacon of learning, and the Enugu State Government House, a central hub for regional leadership.

Culturally, Enugu pulses with the essence of Igbo tradition. Its bustling markets—particularly the iconic Ogbete Main Market—offer a dazzling array of handcrafted goods, delicious local cuisine, and vibrant fabrics, reflecting the craftsmanship and creativity of southeastern Nigeria. The city is also a key player in Nigeria's booming entertainment scene. Nollywood, Africa's largest film industry, finds strong roots here, with Enugu nurturing scores of actors, directors, and producers who shape cinematic narratives across the continent.

As it continues to evolve, Enugu manages to preserve a unique harmony between old and new. Its tranquil environment coexists with ambitious strides in business, academia, and the arts. From its coal-fueled past to its dynamic present as a center of education and entertainment, Enugu City remains a powerful emblem of Igbo pride, regional development, and cultural excellence—an alluring destination for travelers and locals alike seeking the soul of Nigeria in a single city.

OSITA CHIDOKA Fulfilling a Father's Wish

The past two weeks have been celebratory for former Minister of Aviation, Osita Chidoka. First, he fulfilled his father's long-held dream of seeing him become a lawyer. Then, he marked his 54th birthday. While both milestones are remarkable, what resonated most with many was the story behind his decision to return to school - to make his father proud. Vanessa Obioha writes

THE SEMPER NATION NG

THE ANNUAL NATIONAL CONVENTION: The Mother Of All Semper Nation Conventions.

A convention the size and scale of the 2025 Annual National Convention involves the coming together of many parts and many pieces. There are a million things that can go wrong and for which you have to think through and take very tough decisions on.

The inaugural Annual National convention of the Semper Nation in Enugu is no different. It had all the trappings of what could be hair-raising and even hair pulling challenges often associated with pulling off a successful convention.

For starters, the convention became 4 days of daytime and evening activities put together. And of significance is the decision to collapse the annual Eko Conference and colloquium, and already very successful event on the national calendar and international radar of many attendees, into the Annual National convention as a conference focused on STEM Education. Typically, we would form a planning organising committee just for the Eko Conference and Colloquium, not to talk of where that became just one out of 5 events that makes up the Annual National Convention.

And therein lies the value of attending this convention every year, it is truly a full package with options spread so wide that no matter your year of graduation and interests you will likely find one or more activities to interest you. We kick off this year's edition with the welcome reception in one of Enugu's prominent hangouts, and if you are a veteran of many CIC Enugu Alumni Association conventions you will notice that we expanded the welcome reception beyond the light cocktail event it used to be to offer more flavours of our host city while accommodating the colourful holiday mood in August. The food and menu options will cause you to want to come back, time and time again.

Formal business will now be done on Fridays and on Saturdays, starting with the STEM Education conference and colloquium on Friday morning, while we hold our Annual general meeting (AGM) on Saturday morning. This year, we will also do a charity walk before our AGM, and then re-enact the age-old pre-launch dining tradition we all call washing-down....best experienced, not to be told.

While we use the mornings to take care of business, the evenings are not wasted as we have each evening packed solid with interesting fun activities that offer that Enugu vibe and countless memorable opportunities to make it a time you cherish and remember for a long while to come. Friday is our biggest and baddest old school party, a party that has the reputation that in the history of CIC Enugu conventions it has never disappointed. And on Saturday we roll out the drums and the carpet to host our black-tie event with all the razzmatazz and glamor of a grand gala dinner. But we added a new cherry on top and that is the live performance of a highly rated band. So every year, we will entertain you with an A-act who gets to be paid extra if their performance gets all the butts off the chairs and onto the dance floor for the night. Trust me ...we have scouts that will monitor for we intend to pay up if the REF band pulls this off for the 2025 grand gala dinner.

The fun continues on Sunday, a day we start with thanksgiving mass (Catholics) and church service (other denominations) after which we will fete our teachers and staff of CIC Enugu in a brunch party at the school premises and offer those still in Enugu on Sunday afternoon a tour of some of the new and ongoing projects in the school being undertaken by the alumni.

So I want to detour a bit at this point to thank the local organizing committee (LOC) in Enugu under the leadership of Chief Zuby Echetebe and all the volunteers who made this possible, the sponsors, the advertisers, the members of our board of trustees, the sets and chapter leadership of the many CIC Alumni Associations (CICOBA's) represented, our spouses, and the CIC Enugu school management team. You all are amazing and are a blessing to the Semper Nation.

I have often been accosted by folks who wanted to know why Enugu?.... and why August every year? And the answers are simple. The convention will hold mid-August annually because it is the best spot

THE FOOD Of Ndi ENUGU

Nestled in the southeastern region of Nigeria, Enugu State, fondly called the Coal City, is a land where heritage meets hospitality, and food is far more than a means of survival – it is a celebration of identity, culture, and community. As the Semper Nation (College of the Immaculate Conception Alumni Association Nigerian Chapter) prepares to host its Annual National Convention from August 14th to 17th, 2025, Sempers from across the globe are not only coming home to reconnect with their roots, but also to feast on the unforgettable flavors of Enugu cuisine.

Enugu's food is a story of the land and the people. It is simple, hearty, rich in taste, and even richer in meaning. From elaborate soups to humble snacks sold by roadside vendors, every dish offers a warm welcome and a taste of home.

Soup, Swallow & Soul

Enugu people don't joke with their soup and swallow. It's a sacred combo and often the centerpiece of every household. Signature soups like ofe onugbu (bitterleaf), ofe ora, nsala (white soup), and ogbono are all full-bodied and flavorful. However, ofe akwu — a palm fruit stew — is especially beloved for its richness and traditional ties, often served with rice or yam.

To accompany these soups, locals enjoy swallows like Pounded yam, Akpu or semo. Dipping a hot lump of swallow into steaming soup is more than a meal — it's an emotional experience, often described with a satisfied sigh and a smile.

Abacha — The Pride of the Streets

No food tour of Enugu is complete without Abacha, or African Salad. Made from shredded cassava, fermented slightly, and mixed with palm oil, pepper, onions, garden egg, and ugba (oil bean), Abacha is crunchy, spicy, and deeply satisfying.

Served mostly in the afternoons and at street corners, it is often paired with dry fish or kpomo, and always best with a glass of cold palm wine. In Enugu, Abacha isn't just street food — it's a lifestyle.

Okpa — The King of Enugu Snacks

If there's one dish that truly represents Enugu's culinary identity, it's Okpa. Made from bambara nut flour, seasoned with palm oil, pepper, and salt, Okpa is a steamed delicacy so beloved, it's often referred to as "the lion's food" or "the pride of Enugu."

Hot Okpa (Okpa di oku) is sold everywhere — from street hawkers to restaurants — and often eaten as breakfast or a midday snack. Some enjoy it plain, others pair it with pap (akamu) or soaked garri. It's nutritious, filling, and unmistakably Enugu. As the locals say, "If you never chop Okpa, you never reach Enugu."

Bush Meat & Palm Wine — The Coal City Combo

Enugu's love affair with bush meat is legendary. Whether it's roasted grasscutter, peppered goat meat, or wild game, bush meat is best enjoyed in the open-air bush bars scattered across Ngwo hills and Nsukka.

Pair that with a cup of freshly tapped ngwo palm wine served in a traditional calabash, and you've got the ultimate relaxation combo. These settings are where friends gather, deals are struck, and stories flow — as do drinks. As they say, "good meat no get enemy."

Heritage on a Plate

What makes Enugu's food truly special is not just its flavor, but its ability to tell stories. Each meal reflects the warmth of the people, the richness of the land, and the value placed on tradition. Whether you're eating from a street vendor's tray, a family kitchen, or a hotel buffet, you're partaking in something deeply cultural.

As Sempers prepare to gather this August, one thing is guaranteed — Enugu will not only welcome them with open arms, but also with full plates and satisfied bellies.

So, come hungry. Leave happy. Let the food of Enugu fill your soul.

After all, in Enugu, "if you no chop well, na your fault!"

Vina Adela wine sends warm greetings to all esteemed sempers, guests, and organizers of the CIC Enugu Annual Convention!

We are delighted to extend our goodwill and best wishes for an enriching and impactful experience. May this convention bring us closer to our shared vision, foster meaningful connections, and empower us to Student Orientation and Motivation:

The concept of STEM, while not entirely new to the public can be new to our students in CIC Enugu and we recognize that student orientation towards STEM is an important step, especially where this is not examination-leaning but more on expanding their understanding of STEM concepts through practicals, the need to orient students (and their parents) to value the new ways of teaching and knowledge becomes essential. Orientation classes are being taught by members of our alumni body and we acknowledge the efforts by Dr. Val Ozoigbo who is the President of the USA based body of our alumni, in this regard. Dr. Ozoigbo has designed an introduction to STEM curriculum that will aid many students begin to see beyond the standard WAEC, NECO and JAMB curriculum that they are by default made familiar with.

STEM Supplies and Consumables:

STEM cannot be taught without the necessary kits, many of which are consumables, not just the main hardware. While most kits have reusable components, STEM labs often require the constant supply of consumables which students expend as they conduct experiments and do the practical sessions. This aspect of the project requires a long-term focus on replacing spent consumables as a necessary enablement of the STEM teaching program. We want to achieve the normalization of the availability of STEM kits in our STEM labs so that teachers and students will take it for granted that what they require to teach and what they require to learn are available.

The journey has started with the right first steps....:

And the pieces are all falling in place as we construct the STEM Labs building and acquire all the other components required to achieve the goals of enabling STEM. Education in CIC Enugu. The STEM education conference and colloquium, now in its 7th edition, and which some of us would be attending while at the Annual National Convention 2025, remains a solid platform for deep discourse and policy shaping insights about teaching STEM at secondary education level. We invite you to join us and support the work by volunteering or donating, or both. The brand new STEM Education labs building will have a wall of names which will be a roll call of all donors who support the project with funds. You can learn more via our website and the project team would be happy to discuss with you one on one as we achieve the milestones of this game changing initiative.

A GOOD WILL MESSAGE TO MY ALMA MATER

College of the Immaculate Conception (CIC) Enugu, and The Semper Nation

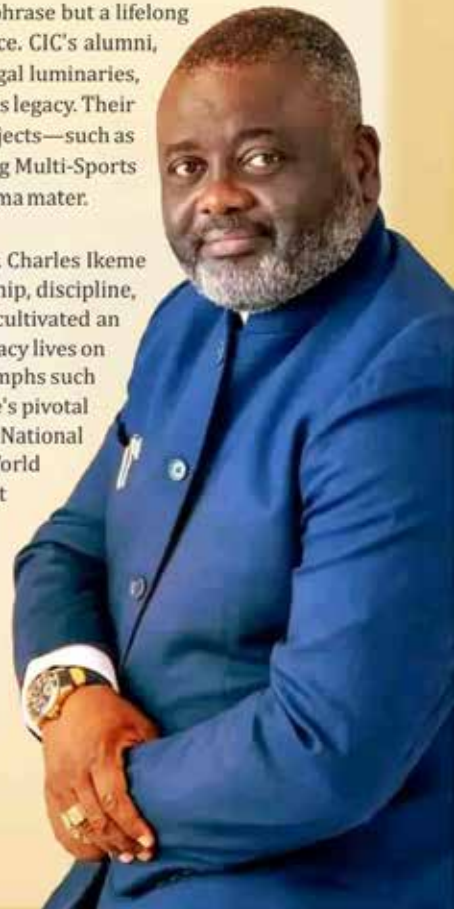

As we navigate the currents of existence, our identities are often shaped by foundational experiences that illuminate our path and define our purpose. With deep gratitude for the formative power of education, a nostalgic reverence for the institution that shaped my character, and profound esteem for its enduring intellectual legacy, I on behalf of my family extend my heartfelt greetings to the College of the Immaculate Conception (CIC) Enugu—a citadel of learning that transcends bricks and mortar to become a living ideal—and to The Semper Nation, the vibrant embodiment of its contributions to humanity.

Founded in 1940 by the Irish Holy Ghost Fathers, CIC Enugu was envisioned as a center for intellectual rigor and moral formation. Through decades of societal evolution, the institution has remained steadfast in its mission, producing leaders who exemplify excellence in governance, academia, law, medicine, industry, and beyond. My own journey, like that of countless alumni, was profoundly shaped by the discipline, camaraderie, and values instilled within these walls—lessons that continue to guide me in service to nation and community.

The motto "Semper Fidelis"—"Always Faithful"—is not merely a phrase but a lifelong covenant. It binds us to loyalty, service, and the pursuit of excellence. CIC's alumni, including no fewer than five State Governors, Senators, Ministers, legal luminaries, industrialists, and pioneering professionals, stand as testament to this legacy. Their achievements, alongside the Semper Movement's transformative projects—such as the ultramodern Alumni Centre, dormitory complex, and forthcoming Multi-Sports Centre—demonstrate our collective commitment to advancing our alma mater.

A defining chapter in CIC's history was written by Very Rev. Msgr. Dr. Charles Ikeme (Samankwe Odobro). Whose tenure as Principal embodied mentorship, discipline, and visionary leadership. He, alongside other dedicated educators, cultivated an environment where intellect and integrity flourished. Today, their legacy lives on in CIC's unwavering academic distinction, exemplified by recent triumphs such as Master Eze Fabian's national essay victory and Chibuikem Ukadike's pivotal role in the Enugu State Debate Team's triumph at the Democracy Day National Debate Championship, securing Nigeria's place at the upcoming World Schools Debate Championship. The recognition of our current Principal, Rev. Fr. Chetanna Oliver Ngwu, with the Distinguished Merit Award for Mission Schools in the South East further underscores CIC's sustained commitment to excellence.

The Annual National Convention remains our golden thread—rekindling bonds while strategizing to uphold CIC as Nigeria's beacon of excellence. As alumni, we are custodians of this heritage. Let us honor Semper Fidelis by ensuring CIC continues to nurture brilliant minds and virtuous leaders for Africa and beyond.

Rt. Hon. Sir Jones Onyereri Ph.D., KSP, FCIPAN

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SEMPER NATION NG.

- An idea whose time has come.

It gives me great pleasure to extend my heartfelt congratulations to the Semper Nation NG on the occasion of its first Annual National Convention. This gathering marks a celebration of our shared heritage and a renewal of the bonds that tie us to our beloved alma mater.

As an alumnus, I am proud of the strides we are making to honour our past, support one another, and inspire future generations. May this convention be the first of many impactful engagements, fostering unity, growth, and a lasting legacy.

Looking back and saying Thank you to the Lord

My name is Ugwu Ugochukwu Fabian from Akpa Edem in Nsukka Local government area of Enugu State Nigeria.

Looking back on the journey of my life, I am filled with gratitude. The early stages were anything but easy marked by challenges, uncertainties, and moments when giving up seemed like the only option. But through it all, I held on to hope, faith, and an unshakable belief that hard work and integrity would someday pay off.

Today, I stand proud and humbled to be one of the managers in a respected banking institution in Nigeria. This position is not just a title it is a testament to perseverance, growth, and grace. It represents every sleepless night, every tough decision, every lesson learned the hard way.

I share my story not for praise, but to remind anyone walking a difficult path that no beginning is too rough to lead to a beautiful destination. With determination, the right values, and God's guidance, the impossible becomes possible.

May my journey inspire others to keep pushing forward, and may we all continue to rise, lead, and make a positive impact wherever we find ourselves.

A Goodwill Message to My Alma Mater, College of the Immaculate Conception (CIC) Enugu, and The Semper Nation

As we navigate the currents of existence, our identities are often shaped by foundational experiences that illuminate our path and define our purpose. With deep gratitude for the formative power of education, a nostalgic reverence for the institution that shaped my character, and profound esteem for its enduring intellectual legacy, I extend heartfelt greetings to the College of the Immaculate Conception (CIC) Enugu—a citadel of learning that transcends bricks and mortar to become a living ideal—and to The Semper Nation, the vibrant embodiment of its contributions to humanity.

Founded in 1940 by the Irish Holy Ghost Fathers, CIC Enugu was envisioned as a center for intellectual rigor and moral formation. Through decades of societal evolution, the institution has remained steadfast in its mission, producing leaders who exemplify excellence in governance, academia, law, medicine, industry, and beyond. My own journey, like that of countless alumni, was profoundly shaped by the discipline, camaraderie, and values instilled within these walls—lessons that continue to guide me in service to nation and community.

The motto "Semper Fidelis"—"Always Faithful"—is not merely a phrase but a lifelong covenant. It binds us to loyalty, service, and the pursuit of excellence. CIC's alumni, including no fewer than five State Governors, Senators, Ministers, legal luminaries, industrialists, and pioneering professionals, stand as testament to this legacy. Their achievements, alongside the Semper Movement's transformative projects—such as the ultramodern Alumni Centre, dormitory complex, and forthcoming Multi-Sports Centre—demonstrate our collective commitment to advancing our alma mater.

A defining chapter in CIC's history was written by Very Rev. Msgr. Dr. Charles Ikeme (Samankwe Odobro). Whose tenure as Principal embodied mentorship, discipline, and visionary leadership. He, alongside other dedicated educators, cultivated an environment where intellect and integrity flourished. Today, their legacy lives on in CIC's unwavering academic distinction, exemplified by recent triumphs such as Master Eze Fabian's national essay victory and Chibuikem Ukadike's pivotal role in the Enugu State Debate Team's triumph at the Democracy Day National Debate Championship, securing Nigeria's place at the upcoming World Schools Debate Championship. The recognition of our current Principal, Rev. Fr. Chetanna Oliver Ngwu, with the Distinguished Merit Award for Mission Schools in the South East further underscores CIC's sustained commitment to excellence.

The Annual National Convention remains our golden thread—rekindling bonds while strategizing to uphold CIC as Nigeria's beacon of excellence. As alumni, we are custodians of this heritage. Let us honor Semper Fidelis by ensuring CIC continues to nurture brilliant minds and virtuous leaders for Africa and beyond.

Rt. Hon. Sir Jones Onyereri Ph.D, KSP, FCIPAN

My dear Esteemed Brothers of the Semper Nation,

On behalf of my husband and myself, I would like to extend our warmest congratulations on this year's convention in Enugu.

Having the privilege of knowing some of your distinguished members personally, we have seen firsthand the positive impact of your work and fellowship. Your commitment to your Alma Mater and to one another reflects the highest ideals of community service and brotherhood.

May your convention be fruitful and may the strong bonds you have forged over the years continue to grow and to flourish.

Benson Ejindu - A Life of Leadership, Philanthropy and Humanitarianism

Ife di na Oba. Eze Ome Ogo. He is our most valuable player or MVP. Born to Mr. and Mrs. G.M. Ejindu in Bauchi, Bauchi State, Nigeria, Benson has been a leader from childhood. 39 years after leaving CIC, he has continued to demonstrate leadership in all spheres of his life. More importantly for the International Alumni Association of the great CIC, he has continued his tradition of leadership becoming the single largest giver for the building fund of the Alumni Multipurpose Building, 450-bed dormitory, classroom renovation, indoor pavilion, and the recently completed FIFA-standard stadium with accommodation for track and field events.

In our alma mater, College of the Immaculate Conception, Enugu, where it all started, the recognition of this leadership trait resulted in his being named his class prefect in class 2, Works Prefect in class 4 and Senior Works Prefect in class 5. He would go on to complete his secondary schooling in 1980. At CIC, Benson was a multi-sports star involved in football, boxing, cricket, and swimming and running. He was the anchor of the famous CIC relay team. On the social side, he was the President of the Young Christian Students club.

In 1984, his pursuit of knowledge would take him to the United States of America where he graduated with an honors degree in Accounting from Shaw University in 1987, after only three years. In 2012, he obtained his Masters degree also in Accounting from Strayer University in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Benson is the President and CEO of Ben Ike Properties and engaged in several other entrepreneurial endeavors. He has worked as a contractor for big institutions in North Carolina, including North Carolina State University, Duke University, GSK Pharmaceuticals at Research Triangle Park, North Carolina.

A man of God and a humanitarian, Benson has been the financial supporter for a lot of causes and organizations. Besides his involvement with CIC and the Alumni Association, he is the Lifetime Patron of Enugu Men's Club USA, Grand Patron Ex Enugu Rangers International (Home and Abroad), Father of Queens School Enugu Alumni USA, Chairman of the Oba Town Benefit Program USA, and the Financial Secretary of Oba Union USA. He is also the Financial Secretary/Treasurer of the Redeemed Christian Church of God Men's Group in Charlotte, North Carolina.

If Benson has been successful, the credit goes to a beautiful wife and physician extraordinaire, Uwadiogbu. His marital union has been blessed with four well-behaved children - Cindy, Princess, Dean and King David. We are grateful to them for allowing their husband and father continue his tradition of leadership now melded with philanthropy and humanitarianism. We thank God for this man who joined the Alumni Association in 2012, but has become the largest giver to date.

The Ejindus reside in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Gozie B Obi SAN

for the vast majority of our alumni who live and work in Nigeria (long vacation in Naija parlance), and even for those who can afford to travel from all over the world to join us. Enugu is the home of the school, has a major international airport, and possessing the hospitality and touristic credentials that make it attractive for organising large events like the CIC Enugu Annual National Convention. As at the time of this writing, the Enugu State Government under the leadership of His Excellency Dr. Peter Ndubuisi Mbah, had started an airline, built an international conference center that we used for this convention, put in place one of the most advanced security apparatus in the nation, and was just about to launch the very popular Hotel Presidential back into the market, while still constructing a major 5-star hotel close to the current international conference centre. Enugu is the ideal destination for small to large conventions.

The ANC25, as we have now come to use as the call sign or code for each year's convention, is a great precursor to ANC26, for which I will advise that you secure one of the few heavily discounted tickets now than later to avoid stories that touch the heart. We estimate that there will be up to a thousand CIC Alumni from all over the world congregating in Enugu in for ANC26.

To pull the ANC25 convention off, experience-wise I personally stood on the shoulders of Semper Nation convention chairmen giants like Sir Joe Udokeh (London 2024 Convention), Chukwuma Chigbo aka DonC of blessed memory (Eko 2023 Convention), Dom Odenigbo (Abuja 2016 convention), and many others too numerous for me to mention here. I salute their commitment and ability to soak up the pressure while navigating egos and petty wranglings (sometimes) but putting all that aside to roll-up sleeves and get deeply involved to execute our plans and deliver.

When we pull the curtain on ANC25, we switch on the lights for ANC26, and I look forward to welcoming you all back in Enugu where we know that it will be bigger and better, and more fun! See you!!

Thank you.
